©MyIR is a Scientific Technologies Corporation developed application that allows consumers access to health records and information. A parent or guardian can register and add access for family members or dependents using a simple and intuitive web interface. ©MyIR.net is focused on providing current immunization information to parents and guardians. This information can then be presented to schools, and athletic clubs at the parent or guardian's discretion. Families can also manage their schedules and coordinate future recommended immunizations with their health provider based on forecasting information, which is also shown as part of the immunization record.
